Contrary to the expectations of everybody, the rebels did not steal the blankets and other articles sent to our prisoners confined in Richmond. Gen. Neal Dow writes from

Libby Prison, that all these things had been buted among the prisoners. The Chattanooga correspondent of the Times, writing Oct. 29th, states that information received within the last three days, renders it highly probable that a movement is being made by a large force of the enemy in the direction of our left but with the object of moving upon Burn-side's right. It is not improper to say in view of the situation that it is believed here that Burnside will very shortly find himself menaced by a strong force from Lee's army via Lynchburg and Bristol, Va., and that between the two forces his only safety will be retreat and the relinquishment of the whole of East Tennessee save the Ghatta-nooga corner held by the Army of the Cum-

The Army of the Potomae is looked to here as the only force that can save Burnside. It is hoped if Lee dares as he certainly will to etac hany more of his troops for opera-tions against Burnside or Thomas, the Army of the Potomac will find means to interfere and prevent the accomplishment of the result now feared.

The Times has the following, dated Whiteside Station Nashville and Chattanooga R. R. Oct. 28. A very gratifying charge has occurred in the situation rendering it far pleasanter to contemplate than it has been. Yesterday morning a portion of Gen. Hooker's forces under the direction of the General himself crossed the Tennessee river at Bridgeport and advanced towards Chattanooga. They reached this point 16 miles from Bridgeport last night. To-day the troops advanced four miles further into Lookout valley, only eight miles from Chat-tanooga, two brigades of rebels and one y retiring before our advance direction of Frenton, Ga., at the upper end of the valley, the only route by which they could join Bragg's force. At an early hour yesterday morning, a force from Chattanooga, noder Brig. Gen. Hazen crossed the Brown's Ferry, throwing out skirmishers, and began the assault of Lookout Mountain, at what is known as the Point. The enemy gave way, with elight opposition, and the mountain was soon in
